(2). The powers to expropriate may only be exercised in terms of this Act or any other law of general application.

(a). owner so requests;

(b) expropriating authority is satisfied that due to the said partial expropriation the use or potential use of such remainder has become so impaired as a result of the expropriation, that it would be just and equitable to the owner to expropriate it; or

(c). expropriating authority, after consultation with the Minister responsible for agriculture, is satisfied that such remainder is or is likely to become an uneconomic farming unit.

Power of Minister to expropriate property

3. The Minister may expropriate any property in the public interest or for public purposes subject to the payment of just and equitable compensation contemplated in this Act.

Expropriation of property on behalf of juristic persons

Vesting of expropriated property in expropriating authority

13. (1) The effect of an expropriation of property is that-

(a) the ownership of the property described in the notice of expropriation vests, subject to section 4(2), in the expropriating authority on the date of expropriation, released from mortgage bonds (if any);

(b) all unregistered rights in such property are simultaneously expropriated on the date of expropriation to the extent of their inconsistency with such ownership;

and

(c) the property as described in the notice of expropriation remains subject to all registered rights, with the exception of mortgage bonds, in favour of third parties with which the property has been burdened prior to expropriation, unless or until such registered rights are expropriated from the holder thereof in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) Possession of the expropriated property vests in the expropriating authority on the date stated in terms of section 12(4)(c) or such other date as may be agreed upon between the expropriated owner concerned and the expropriating authority.

(3) (a) The expropriated owner of land must from the date of expropriation to the date upon which the expropriating authority takes possession of the land, take care of and maintain the land.

(b) If such expropriated owner wilfully or negligently fails to do so and as a result thereof the land depreciates in value, the expropriating authority may recover the amount of the depreciation from such expropriated owner.

(c) The expropriating authority must compensate such expropriated owner for unusual maintenance costs incurred by agreement with the expropriating authority after the date of expropriation.

(4) If the expropriated owner desires to place the expropriating authority in possession of expropriated land prior to the date stated in terms of section 12(4)(c) and he or she and the expropriating authority do not agree upon a date on which the possession of such land passes to the expropriating authority, he or she may give the expropriating authority not less than 21 days' notice in writing of the date on which he or she desires to place the expropriating authority in possession and possession of the land will pass to the expropriating authority on that date.

(5) The expropriated owner remains entitled to the use of and the income from any land expropriated from the date of expropriation to the date upon which possession of the land passes to the expropriating authority, but remains during that period, responsible for the payment of municipal property rates and other charges as well as normal operating costs and maintenance in respect of the expropriated land as if the land had not been expropriated.

Consequences of expropriation of unregistered rights and duties of expropriating authority

14. (1) The expropriated holder of an unregistered right in property which has been expropriated as contemplated in section 13(1)(b) is entitled to compensation for such expropriation as if the unregistered right was expropriated by separate notice of expropriation in terms of section 13(1).

(2) As soon as the expropriating authority becomes aware that an unregistered right in expropriated property has been expropriated as contemplated in section 13(1)(b), and of the identity of the expropriated holder thereof, the expropriating authority must serve on such expropriated holder a notice that the unregistered right has been expropriated, together with a copy of the notice of expropriation served on the expropriated owner in terms of section 13(1).

(3) The notice contemplated in subsection (2) must-

(a) direct the attention of the expropriated holder to the date upon which possession of the expropriated property vests in the expropriating authority in terms of section 13(2);

(b) contain a statement contemplated in section 12(3)(d), if applicable; and service or from such date as the expropriating authority and such holder may agree upon;

(b) the expropriated holder is entitled to claim compensation as provided for in section 17 despite no notice having been served upon him or her in terms of subsection (2) and in such an event this Act is applicable with the changes required by the context as though such a notice has been served in terms of subsection (2) on the date upon which the expropriated holder delivered the claim for compensation; and

COMPENSATION FOR EXPROPRIATION

Basis on which compensation is to be determined

15. (1) Every expropriated owner and expropriated holder is entitled to compensation in terms of section 25(3) of the Constitution.

(2) In determining the amount of compensation to be paid in terms of this Act, the expropriating authority must ensure that compensation is just and equitable, reflecting an equitable balance between the public interest and the interests of those affected.

(3) (a) In determining whether compensation contemplated in subsection (2) is just and equitable all relevant factors must be considered, including -

(i) the current use of the property;

(ii) the history of the acquisition and use of the property;

(iii) the market value of the property;

(iv) the extent of direct state investment and subsidy in the acquisition and beneficial capital improvement of the property;

(v) the purpose of the expropriation; and

(vi) any advice received from the Board.

(b) When considering the factors contemplated in paragraph

(a), an expropriating authority must not give undue weight to a single factor over any other and no account must be taken of -

(i) the fact that the property has been taken without the consent of the expropriated owner or expropriated holder;

(ii) the special suitability or usefulness of the property for the purpose for which it is required by the expropriating authority, if it is unlikely that the property would have been purchased for that purpose in the open market;

(iii) any enhancement in the value of the property, if such enhancement is a consequence of the use of the property in a manner which is unlawful;

(iv) improvements made on the property in question after the date on which the notice of expropriation was served upon the claimant, except where they were agreed to by the expropriating authority in terms of section 13(3) or where they were undertaken in pursuance of obligations entered into before that date;

(v) anything done with the object of obtaining compensation therefore; and

(iv) any enhancement or depreciation, before or after the date of service of the notice of expropriation, in the value of the property in question, which is due to the scheme or purpose in connection with which the property was expropriated.

(4) The Minister may, on the advice of the Board, prescribe guidelines to determine the implementation of the provisions set out in subsection (2).

Interest on compensation money

16. (1) Interest at the interest rate prescribed in terms of section 80(1)(b) of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act NO.1 of 1999), is due from the date of expropriation on any outstanding portion of the amount of compensation payable in accordance with section 15, and becomes payable as provided in section 20(4) and (5): Provided that -

(a) if the expropriated owner or expropriated holder fails to comply with section 17(1) and (2) within the appropriate periods referred to in that section, including any extension of such periods, the amount so payable during the period of such failure and for the purposes of the payment of interest, is not regarded as an outstanding amount;

(b) interest due in terms of this subsection must be regarded as having been paid on the date on which the amount has been made available or by prepaid registered post posted to the expropriated owner or the expropriated holder concerned, or electronically transferred to his or her account, as the case may be; and

(c) any deposit, payment or utilisation of any amount in terms of section 20(1), 22(2) or 23(1) or (4) must be regarded as being a payment to the expropriated owner or expropriated holder and no interest is due by the expropriating authority on any such amount as from the date on which it has been so deposited, paid or utilised.

(2) If land has been expropriated-

(a) no interest is due to the expropriated owner of such land, or to any expropriated holder, for any period before possession of such land has passed to the expropriating authority in terms of section 13(2), (4) or 14(4)(a), as the case may be; and

(b) and the expropriated owner or any expropriated holder occupies or utilizes that land or any portion thereof, no interest will be due to him or her in respect of the period during which he or she so occupies or utilises the land or portion thereof on so much of the outstanding amount as relates to the land or the portion so occupied or utilised.
